CAPERTON REPORTS BATTLE

American Killed in Fight with Santo Domingo Rebels.

Rear Admiral Caperton, commander of American marines in Santo Domingo, yesterday reported to the Navy Department that a battle had been fought between marines and revolutionists on July 4, in which one American was killed, one seriously wounded, and several slightly wounded. Twenty-seven natives were killed, five captured, and an unknown number wounded. The American killed was Corp. George Frayne.

The marines were advancing toward Santiago, San Domingo, under Col. Joseph H. Pendleton, when they encountered about 300 rebels strongly entrenched at Guaymas. The rebel outposts started firing, the American being killed at once. The natives were soon routed, carrying their wounded with them.

PRINCE GEORGE BANK JOINS IN MILITIA AID

The directorate of the Prince George Bank, Hyattsville, in session last night, made a substantial appropriation personally as the nucleus of a fund for the benefit of families of National Guardsmen from the county now on the Mexican frontier.

Company F, the crack company of Maryland, is the pride of Hyattsville and the county. On the eve of their departure for Camp Harrington a brilliant farewell celebration was held.

The committee is composed of N. G. Dudrow, vice president of the Prince George Bank, chairman; Directors Perry Boswell, of Mount Rainier; T. Howard Duckett, of Bladensburg; Clarence J. Owens, of Riverdale, and at large, Mayor John G. Holden, of Hyattsville; Mayor Fred Webber, of Mount Rainier; Thomas F. Schultz; Edward Gasch; John H. Wilson; John J. Fink and A. C. Quisenberry.

HIS PLEDGE SCRAP O' PAPER.

Johnson Tears It Up and Then Throws Pieces at Wife's Nose.

Baltimore, July 6.—"He threw the fish at me, hurled a brick through the window, and when I showed him the pledge he signed here to stop drinking, he tore it up and threw the scraps of paper at my nose."

"How about that, husband?" said Justice Clift in the Northeastern Police Court to William Johnson, 15 McEldey street, arraigned on the charge of assaulting his wife.

"I dunno, maybe right," and his voice trailed off into an inaudible mumble. He was ordered back to his cell, from where he will be released after the effects of old John Barleycorn have worn off.

MUSTER NEARLY 400 MILITIAMEN

Practically the Entire District Force Now Sworn Into Federal Service.

All of the District troops at the mobilization camp near Fort Myer, with the exception of a few detachments, have been mustered into the service of the United States. The troops of cavalry and the two batteries of field artillery were received into the service by Capt. Horace Hobbs, U. S. A., mustering officer, yesterday afternoon.

The ceremonies were held on the Fort Myer cavalry drill field, just adjacent to the cavalry and artillery camps. The men of Battery B, under the command of Capt. George G. Wilson, were the first to march on the field and take the oath. The officers who were sworn in with the battery were Capt. Wilson, First Lieut. Ellwood S. Mooreland, First Lieut. John R. Vanderhoof, Second Lieut. C. E. Ladson, and Second Lieut. G. G. McGrath. Battery B had 138 men in line at the muster, and later three more men, who had been out on special details, were added.

Troop A, of the cavalry, was the next unit to be mustered. Under the command of Capt. Louis C. Vogt, which mustered in 151 men and five officers. The lieutenants of Battery A are First Lieut. George A. Bonnet and Harry E. Shilling, and Second Lieut. Homer M. Mohr and Milton T. Noyes.

Just after the oath had been administered by Capt. Hobbs, and as the men were standing at attention, Private Archie M. Pelsch, of Battery A, fainted and had to be carried from the field. He had been suffering from indigestion, and when he turned out for muster, the sun was too hot for him. He soon recovered. Private Pelsch was an instructor of economics in the University of Wisconsin before he enlisted last week. He was visiting a friend in Washington who had enlisted and, although working in New York, decided to join the battery.

Short Talk to Men.

After the muster of Battery A, Capt. Vogt gave a short talk to the men. Both batteries were marched to the Third Infantry regimental infirmary and given their second dose of the typhoid antitoxin. Lieut. Lytle C. White, worked the hyperdermic needle. Every organization in camp has now had its second dose of prophylactic. Ten days later the third dose will be given.

Troop A was issued new coats, and last night the men slept above ground for the first time since they have been in camp. Clothing and other equipment will be issued as fast as possible.

Outpost duties were practiced on a morning hike in command of Maj. J. F. Hodgson, Wallace A. McCathran and George Summers. In the afternoon a regular drill was held.

Col. Glendie B. Young, of the Third Infantry, is anxious to receive the report of the medical officers who have been giving his troops Federal physical examinations. Until this report is received it will not be known how many of the men are needed to bring the regiment to minimum strength.

MARYLAND UNIT LEAVES TODAY

Battery A, Only Militia Branch Left in Camp, to Entrain for the Border.

Camp Harrington, July 6.—A bomb was exploded in camp this morning, but fortunately no one was hurt, as it was in the shape of an order.

As Battery A is the only unit of Maryland's Guard left at the mobilization camp, it was hurried in their direction. Battery A fully expected to strike camp late this afternoon and pull out for Tobyhanna, Pa., but their ambitions were shattered when it became known this morning that the government's representatives at Camp Harrington would be unable to sufficiently equip them to warrant a getaway today.

The start will be made, however, early tomorrow, and by tonight they will have reached Tobyhanna, where they will be further drilled in the art of warfare.

Camp Harrington, the largest and best mobilization camp Maryland has ever had, which only a few days ago was a veritable city of canvas, is now devoid of life, save for that portion known as Vinegar Hill, where Battery A is encamped, and tents here and there about brigade headquarters, or at least what was brigade headquarters.

Adj. Gen. Henry M. Warfield is sitting on the lid at Camp Harrington this morning, and with him are several of the officers for whom the Department of the East had no room at present, but who expect to be called into service within a comparatively short time in event of there being any likelihood of hostilities with Mexico.

These are Maj. W. W. Crosby, John Philip Hill, Frank Fort, Robert P. Bay and Shipley. So anxious are the officers of Maryland's militia that each has especially urged the government by wire to use them in some division which may be formed.

Notes of Camp Ordway

Signs telling the names of occupants of the officers' tents have been placed outside every tent. Even "rookies" can find the regimental officers now.

Edward S. Phillips, a former regular of Troop D, Second Cavalry, has been signed up as cook of Company C.

The band has been sadly depleted. The leader and most of the sergeants were employees of the navy yards, and the order recalling these employees cut the band in half. It still is able to play at guard mount, however. An effort to recruit it to full strength is being made.

Private John Elliott McKenny, Company B, has been ordered honorably discharged by Gen. Wood, in order that he may report on July 10 to the commanding officer at West Point for enrollment as a cadet in the United States Military Academy.

Animals are not susceptible to typhoid fever, one of the medical officers has declared, and for that reason none of the numerous pets of the camp have been "shot" with typhoid anti-toxin.

"You all," who have not yet submitted a solution of The Herald's latest and most interesting puzzle have just four more days to enlist in the ranks of those who are ambitious to secure a slice of the vacation fund The Herald has placed at the disposal of those who can untangle the jumble of letters so efficiently well to make the phrase "The United States" the greatest number of times.

This fund is to be divided among the five best solvers of the puzzle, each portion being determined by the amount the winner pays on subscription to The Herald, when registering his solution.

While you'll have to hustle if you want to get into the contest, you will have just the same chance to win now as those who have beaten you to it, but as in the case of other things, delays are dangerous, and much further delay in this particular instance means that you are approaching dangerously near the point of losing an opportunity of earning your vacation spending money.

It should be remembered that those who have won in previous contests of

VAUDEVILLE BY OMO CLASS AT ORDWAY

Man of Many Noises, Monologist, and Barytone Soloist on Program at Militia Camp.

There was vaudeville for the District soldiers at Camp Ordway Wednesday night. The Omo class of Brightwood M. E. Church furnished talent to perform on the board stage that had been erected in the Y. M. C. A. tent. There were many visitors in the audience.

Griffo, the man of many noises, imitated everything from a cat and dog fight to a cornet. J. Lawrence Phillips was a monologist, and C. A. Kinella sang several barytone solos. Fred Madison sang coon songs, and Tony Rosette, member of the machine gun company, even with his heavy army shoes on, did a buck and wing dance.

The National City Quartet, composed of Glenn Dorsey, G. K. Weston, Walter Taylor, and George Lovett, sang, and a quartet from Companies I and G broke in on the program with some real soldier singing. Miss Mabel C. Sands was accompanist.

Aquarium Society to Meet.

The Aquarium Society of Washington will hold a field meeting Sunday afternoon in the vicinity of Bladensburg. The members will meet at the District line and explore the region toward Bladensburg under the leadership of Louis W. Bauer, senior vice president of the society.

COLONIAL BEACH POPULAR.

Steamer St. Johns Takes Big Crowds to Resort for Week-ends.

A pleasant week-end outing can be had at Colonial Beach, Washington's Atlantic City, which is now in the midst of its summer gayeties. Tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. and Sunday at 9 a. m. the big steamer St. Johns, the largest steamer employed in excursion service on the Potomac, will leave her wharf here and make a quick run of seventy-five miles to the beach.

Returning, she will leave Colonial Beach on Sunday evening at 6 o'clock and reach home about 10:30 p. m. Attention is called to the fare for the Sunday trip, which is 50 cents. This ticket is good to return that evening only. Those who wish to make a protracted stay at the beach can purchase a ticket good to return any time during the season. Colonial Beach offers both the pleasures of a water resort with those of a country place.

The St. Johns is making daily, except Monday, trips to Colonial Beach, leaving here at 2:30 p. m. Saturdays, and 9 a. m. other days. Next Monday evening and each Monday thereafter through the season the St. Johns will make her popular evening dancing trips, leaving here at 7 p. m. and returning at about 11 p. m.
